Introduction offer : Equi-stream video training - installation in indoor schools

This offer is valid for installations in a selection of countries in the north of Europe.

Lividi delivers Equi-stream video training systems installed in indoor schools. The installation consists of the following equipment:

- A camera
- A PC with Equi-stream software
- A head-set for the rider
- The required cables for data and power

The customer must provide Internet connectivity with sufficient capacity in the school, and the customer is responsible for the Internet connection being operational. Lividi can provide assistance for selecting a suitable Internet subscription.

Lividi is responsible for the installation in the indoor school. The customer is invoiced for the installation work. The price of installation depends on in which country the system is installed, and local adaptations that needs to be made in the school. The invoice for installation is due 14 calendar days after installation date. The installation price is not refundable.

The customer is allowed a 14 calendar day trial period. If the customer wants to return the installation, the customer must inform Lividi via e-mail no later than 14 calendar days after the installation.

Lividi provides the Equi-stream system as a managed service and is responsible for the system being operational. The equipment is owned by Lividi and is rented out to the customer for a monthly fee. In addition to the monthly fee, the customer will be invoiced an establishment fee when the system is installed in a school. The terms are as follows, where prices are ex. VAT:

- Establishment fee: If the customer chooses to keep the system, € 4300 is invoiced and due 24 calendar days after the installation date.
- Rent of equipment: € 700 per month in advance. The first rent is to be payed only if the customer chooses to keep the system, and is due 24 calendar days after installation date.

Note that when Equi-stream has been installed in a school, any trainer that has access to a Equi-stream Trainer's kit may connect to the system, if granted access by the administrator at the indoor school. An Equi-stream installation is not bound to a particular trainer or a particular Trainer's kit.

If the customer keeps the system after the trial period, Lividi is allowed to publicly refer to the customer as an Equi-stream user, for example on the web-page www.equi-stream.com
